

Courses Being Offered Close to Home and Afar

- University of Wisconsin–Madison is offering two short courses the first two weeks of January, 2007. From January 2-5 they are offering the Integrated Pest Management (IPM) Course for Landscape Plants with multiple campus instructors. From January 8-12 they are offering a Woody Ornamentals Course taught by Ed Lyon of the Janesville Rotary Gardens. For more information or to register, contact Richard Daluge at 608-263-3918.
- Municipal Forester Institute (MFI) – The MFI is an exciting, new, high-level training opportunity educating professionals in the managerial aspects of urban forest programs. A week-long intensive educational program delivers a challenging professional growth opportunity to shape a successful community tree care program. Important topics covered include “Developing a Leadership Approach to Urban Forestry Programs,” “Growing and Enhancing an Urban Forestry Program,” “Strategic Planning and Urban Forest Management Plans,” and “Working Effectively with Boards, Committees, Coalitions and Non-Profit Organizations.” For more information and registration forms for the upcoming conference at Lake Arrowhead UCLA Conference Center, February 18-23, visit www.urban-forestry.com or call 706-769-7412.
