

Tree Talk: Live Online Webcast Series

Alliance for Community Trees (ACT) announces its topics for the 2008 webcast series. The Brown Bag Lunch Series is a monthly webcast held the third Thursday of each month at the lunch hour. The goal is to provide informal training opportunities for local urban and community forestry practitioners. The trainings highlight successful programs and practices that you may want to adapt in your communities.

The series is geared for volunteer organizers, community groups, and others who work with the public. While the webcasts are open to all, the content is most likely to be of interest to those who work directly with the public, volunteers, or youth. Sessions are planned to last no more than one hour, with two presenters speaking on the same topic from slightly different perspectives, each for 10-15 minutes, followed by 10-15 minutes of questions and answers. The Brown Bag Lunch Series is made possible through support from the Home Depot Foundation and partnership with the USDA Forest Service.
