

Fruit for the Home Gardener

Paul Schwabe – Horticulturist/ Sales Rep. for Johnson's Nursery

Description of Presentation

A brief discourse on how to be successful growing tree fruits. This lecture will focus on the home production of apples, peaches and cherries.

Speaker Bio

Paul Schwabe is a UW-Madison graduate of Horticulture. He has 32 years working in the wholesale nursery industry with the last 24 years working at Johnson's Nursery. He also has several years' experience working in commercial apple growing. He is very passionate about fruit growing, especially apples. Dealing with worm-infested home-grown apples in his youth was an inspiration to learn how to grow fruit successfully. This led to working at a commercial orchard for a few years. He now enjoys tending to a 22-tree hobby orchard and lecturing about fruit trees for Johnson's Nursery.